OLD SCOUTS AMONG WORLD LEADERS

President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States is an Old Scout and every member of his Cabinet has been a Scout or served on Scout committees.

He succeeds the late John F. Kennedy who was the first U.S. Old Scout to become President.

United Nations Secretary, U Thant in a recent T. V. interview said that he once hoped to be a political journalist.

When asked for whom he wrote his first article—The Boy Scouts of Burma !

Guest speaker at the last Conference of Scout Commissioners in London was the Right Hon. Harold Wilson, the Leader of the Opposition.

Mr. Wilson was a Patrol Leader and King's Scout in 20th Huddersfield Scout Group and is now a member of the Parliament Branch of the B.-P. Scout Guild.

And way back home, Deputy Leader of the N. S. W. State Opposition, Eric Willis, is a member of the St. George Branch of the Guild.

WHAT HAS SCOUTING DONE TO ME?

By President's Scout Sheeroy Sunawala of Clarence High School, Bangalore-5.

As most of you are aware, scouting mainly moulds our character. In my case, the training I received imbibed in me loyalty, friendliness and helpfulness, even if such feelings were not to be reciprocated by others. While under training, I was even trusted with the Troop's money. I automatically had to become careful, methodical and he worthy of the trust put on me. Trustworthiness along with other qualities have since then, become second nature to me. Although the Scout Law and Promise, at first seemed to me to be childish and taken for granted, without any deeper meaning, I now feel convinced about their values in moulding my character.

The first step in becoming a scout, is passing the Tenderfoot tests, which teach the rudimentary facts of goodness and helpfulness. The tests later become harder and harder demanding more knowledge, more things to be learnt, more activities to be performed and all in all moulding one into a real scout - in other words a Good Citizen. In my case, such tests gave me opportunities to discover new things about myself, which were so far latent to me. What's more, the proficiency badges spurred me on to feel myself as much at ease outdoors as Indoors. To be alert to the lore of the wood and to enjoy a happy fellowship of outdoor life, which so many of us lack, nowadays.

In case of an emergency like a fire in the neighbourhood or a bloody accident on the road, what is more important, than lend a helpful hand instead of panicking? Proficiency Badges which I have to do for my President's Scout Badge viz., Ambulanceman, Public Healthman, Fireman, Pioneer and Tracker may some day find their application in life.

Thus scouting helps me as it does to others, to face life with the characteristic courage and persrvance of a scout; to try and be a good citizen and be beneficial, in my small individual way, to my country. Let us all hope, that we also have the comforting feeling of having done our best to make life for others and ourselves happier, brighter and a little more bearable.

I am sure everyone will agree with me when I say that all these we can do and also get if we only do our duty to God - which is the first duty of every scout. Forget not, therefore, duty to God - duty to country and your help to others. I wish all the readers a very good scouting.

D. RAMAIYA AS A SCOUT

A Sketch by Dr. K. N. V. SASTRI

D. Ramaiya passed away on 25 January 1967

I saw him, from a distance, in 1911 when he was on the eve of his taking the first degree from Maharaja's College in Mysore. I say 'from a distance', because he was considered to be the best-dressed boy, fond of sports and debate and drama and absolutely well-behaved. Thomas Denham who was the Principal used to go to Ramaiya for funds to meet the expenses of several activities in the College. He was tall, slim and amiable and very popular.

I met him in 1921 in connection with my own-First-Mysore-Scout Troop. He honoured me with a visit and a yarn a few days later. Since then we became Brother Scouts living up to the Scout Promise and the Scout Law.

By June 1922 we organised a Scoutmasters Association. At first we held the Association meetings in Marimallappa's High School, the cost of tea being met by subscriptions. We moved into our own room in the Town Hall next year, thanks to the efforts of D. Ramaiya with the Municipal President.

Between 1922 and 1925 it was very difficult to get a graduate to become a Scoutmaster. We worked only with clerks, drill Instructors, drawing masters and primary school teachers. Rover Scouting was distant.

The graduates came in as soon as we succeeded in making the Vice-Chancellor Dr. B. N. Seal, the Principal Sri N. S. Subba Rao, the Deputy Commissioner Sri A. V. Ramanathan and a few non-officials like Rao Bahadur M. Ramaswamy and Sri S. Krishnaswami Rao don the Scout uniform correctly and publicly in scout rallies and at scout functions.

It is to the everlasting glory of D. Ramaiya that he persuaded H. H. the Yuvaraja also wearing the scout uniform and making his son (the present Maharaja) not only to put on cub uniform but also to hold the rank of Chief Cub. In these the Maharaja was a dissenter.

With D. Ramaiya's help and influence with H. H. The Chief Scout, money flowed in rivers for a Yuvaraja's fund for State Rallies, for organising our own annual weeks, for instituting shields and medals, etc. and for expanding the movement within Mysore District (which then included Mandya District) itself. It was a triumph for the Golden Age of—D. Ramaiya.

The history of scouting in Mysore District from 1925 has many phases. Thanks to Mr. C. Subba Rao who was the Organising Scout Commissioner for many years, scouting took deep roots and shot forth several branches in this district and became a model for other districts. Byadarahalli was reared for a Training Camp and provided with a well, a kitchen and a bungalow at the top of the hill. The temple and the huge grove in front of it was Assembly Hall. This was entirely the handiwork of Sri A. V. Ramanathan as the Chairman of Mysore District Scout Council, but we three - Subba Rao, Ramaiya and me worked hard to put his plan through. We would go on bicycles once a month along the railway track from Mysore to that village (which had not yet been given the station), stay in the temple overnight and return the next day before it was 9 A.M. (to attend to our official duties); and we did this for nearly six months without the world knowing about it. A. A. Khan who was Traffic Manager consulted us before locating the new station at the village, and he permitted us to put up a small notice on wooden board to say "Alight here for the State Central Training Camp for Scouts. When Doddaballapur was selected later, this board was of course removed.

Ramaiya's interest in the young boys of Ursu community deserves to be written in letters of gold. When Sri H. Nanjundaraj Urs and Sri T. Thumboo Chetty fell out in 1927 on the Ursu School affairs and the future of the Ursu community was in jeopardy Ramaiya stood firmly on the side of the boys and saved the institution while incurring Mr. Chetty's displeasure. Again, when the same school required funds for expansion he appealed to the Ursu gentlemen and the old boys and supplied the Committee with adequate resources. These two among a hundred of his services to the community are but illustrations generally of his devotion to the education and suitable employment of the Ursu boys under his care; at the same time they indicate the great and noble spirit of 'Service and sacrifice' which every true Scout must possess. But this created enemies within the Palace; Mr. Chetty listened to the stories. But Ramaiya refused to yield. His Scout spirit and character now in his blood made him face all those enemies and every selfish person in the Palace Service including his Huzur Secretary.

Ramaiya was a scout par excellence. From a Scoutmaster of 10th Mysore Troop he rose to be a Commissioner for the Dist. of Mysore and became a member of the Headquarters Executive Committee from 1930. He spent many years as Secretary of Mysore District Scout Council and made Scouting very popular in the District.

Ramaiya and I went to Ceylon in 1925 for our Wood Badge. When I was in England he enabled me to get the Boy Scouts of Mysore affiliated to the Imperial Headquarters in 1929.

When he died I said 'Well my Ideal of a Scout has gone!' Although the ironies of life separated us physically in 1947 we were in frequent contact with each other by post. His career in the Palace Service ended rather tragically like that of cardinal Wolsey, but none even among friends and associates like me saw or heard one note of bitterness against his betrayers. The Scout movement has lost its greatest doyen by his passing away.

Scouts Launch Radio Station

The greetings of Bomby's Scouts and Guides circled the globe as amateur radio station No VU-2- MAH went on the air on Saturday afternoon.

And on the tiny receiving set at 33, Pali Hill, Bandra, came the voices from the countries around the Indian ocean, stretching from Singapore to Brisbane.

The occasion was the World Scouts and Guides 9th Jamboree-on-the-air. This is the Diamond Jubilee year of the scout movement. It was an occasion with a special significance for India. For the first time, the local scouts were participating in the annual exchange of greetings and shop-talk over the "ham" radios,

At 2-30 P.M. VU-2-MAH went on the air. Mr. Sead Ali, secretary of the Radio and Electronics Society of India, monitored the set and announced: "This is Victor-Uniform-figure two-Mike-Alpha Hotel calling the scout jamborees of the world. Come in please".

MESSAGE FROM COLOMOO

The first to "raise" the message was a "ham" from Colombo. The scout master in the Colombo radio room sent the greetings of 25,000 scouts of Ceylon. A troop from the Bombay International School replied. By this time more scouts and guides were arriving. A batch came ready with a dozen messages, eager to contact London. And in the little room on Pali Hill the messages started pouring in.

Three stations from Singapore replied, another two from Ceylon. And late in the evening, as the clock marking the Greenwich time advanced, a troop from a little town in West Australia was talking to the Bombay scouts.

The Jamboree-on-the-air will continue on Sunday, when more stations are expected to be "raised" and more local scouts will converse with their friends in distant countries.

CAMPER'S PRAYER

I thank thee, God, for giving me
A pair of eyes that I may see
The beauty of the out-of-doors:
The valleys with their grassy floors,
The sky of blue, the stars so bright,
And mother Earth, my bed at night.
I thank thee, too, that I may hear
The whisp'ring breezes in my ear,
The songbirds singing in the trees,
And the hum of honeybees.....
For the song we sing at night
By the campfire's flick'ring light.
For the wood-smoke in the air,
Nature's wonders everywhere,
For the friendship and the fun,
For the peace when day is done:
For all the things I'd do without,
If I couldn't be a Scout.

Sri A. M. Ramamurthy

Sri A. M. Ramamurthy, the former Hon. Secretary & Treasurer of the Bharat Scouts & Guides, Bangalore South District Association, Civil Area, passed away on July 9, 1967 at 3-00 A.M.

Sri Ramamurthy, born in 1901 graduated from the St. Joseph's College, Bangalore, was connected with youth and youth movement in general and Scout/Guide movement in particular for a long time. During the world War II he was appointed ARP Officer of the old C & M Station, Bangalore and also served the Government of Mysore as the Asst. Director of Food Supplies for over 12 years.

His life was one dedicated to the service of youth, particularly in the Civil Area. He took over as the Hon. Secretary & Treasurer of the then Bangalore Boys Scout Association (later the Bangalore Civil Station Scout Council and then the present Bharat Scouts & Guides, Bangalore South District Association) on June 23, 1948 and continued in the capacity till September 15, 1966 on which date he became the Hon. Treasurer of the Association, which post he held till March 31, 1967 when he expressed his desire to leave the Executive Committee of the Association due to his failing health. He has also served the District as the District Commissioner (Scouts) on a number of occasions in the officiating capacity and was also a member of the State council of the Bharat Scouts and Guides, Mysore State. He was also a member of the special Committee constituted for the merger of the Bangalore Boys Scouts Association with the boys Scouts of Mysore and later as the Bharat Scouts & Guides. It was during his term as the Hon.

Secretary & Treasurer, this Association celebrated its Golden Jubilee in the year 1959, which was a grand success. He was out and out for building / moulding the character of the youth. His devotion to work for the cause of the youth was of great importance and though he has left us physically he continues to live in the heart of his associates in the Scout / Guide movement for whom he is an everlasting source of inspiration.

His passing away has taken away from us a person - a good Scout - who always lived up to the scout promise and the law everyday of his life and one who sacrificed his life for the cause of the youth.

His meritorious work in the field of education has also gained him the recognition of the Government of Mysore which honoured him with the STATE AWARD as a DISTINGUISHED EDUCATIONIST in the year 1952.

We owe a deep debt of gratitude to him and it is entirely due to his untiring efforts guidance and earnestness in building / moulding the character of the youth, the Bangalore South District Association is one of the leading Associations of the Bharat Scouts & Guides, Mysore State.
